Newsletter 2021

Notes from the GM

Hi Everyone,

There were 26 members at Snow White's run at Charlie Market. Also present were Richard's son, daughter –in- law and two grandchildren. A noted absentee was Uncle Bee who has a broken ankle. We all wish you a speedy recovery. The smaller than usual turnout was the result of competing with the Bellevue Hotel event on Penang Hill!

In the circle we were told that the run was short and there was one check.

We all ambled towards the hash highway and started up the hill at a good pace. At the various points where previous runs had entered the jungle we slowed and took a look but no it was still up the highway until we got to the turn that takes you down towards TAR College, then the paper trail turned and we went down the slope.

Even before we got there, it felt like a check and sure enough there was the circle. It was quite clearly a circle, but most of us treated it like a bar and back we went up the hill to the highway. We could already hear someone calling so we speedily scrambled up, across the highway and there was paper. We were so busy chatting that it was some while before anyone noticed it was last week's paper. We called and the answering calls came from below us. We went up a bit further up but we were getting further away from the calls so we had to about turn and go back. We went back to where the circle had been and couldn't quite figure out where the rest of the pack had gone. Alistair sensibly suggested that we went to the top of the hill where hopefully we would be able to see either the paper or the pack and get our act together.

A few moments later, we could hear Rambo calling and so we needed to go down and left to get back on paper. After this, it was plain sailing we just needed to stay on paper. On the way down Mini Sausage came thundering behind so I stepped aside to let him pass and two strides later we heard him screaming bees!!!! He was stung all over but the rest of us did a detour and were unharmed. The trail was very pleasant and we came out at the Chinese temple at the top of the cemetery.

This should have been a marvelous road jog back to the market but for some reason that neither Sperm Whale nor I could explain we followed Mini Sausage into some overgrown, barbed wire strewn crap which was almost impossible to penetrate and came out just about 20 metres further down the road! No wonder my Chinese horoscope is a goat!

We had a brief circle and I tried to avoid having the ice block present but I was out manoeuvred by the guys. The first charge was for Goodyear and Justbeer to wish them and all our members who celebrate it a Happy Deepavali. The next charge came from Mini Sausage and it was for GM. I knew a charge of some sort or other was on the cards as I seemed to be asking for it all evening! The actual charge was not sticking to tradition and trying to hold an iceless circle. We then charged the hare, Snow White for a good run, lovely food, free beers and a good location. Annelies arrived at this point so she came into the circle to be wished a Happy Birthday. Goodyear then charged Bendover and Silent man for not being in the circle.

Various members joined us late in the evening –Monty and his friend Philip, Car Boot, Hari Hari Mau, Big Willy, and Grasshopper .

Many thanks Snow White for providing such an enjoyable Thursday evening.

See you all next week.

Funnies

Charlie, a new retiree-greeter at Wal-Mart, just couldn't seem to get to work on time.

Every day he was 5, 10, 15 minutes late. But he was a good worker, really tidy, clean-shaven, sharp-minded and a real credit to the company and obviously demonstrating their "Older Person Friendly" policies.

One day the boss called him into the office for a talk. "Charley, I have to tell you, I like your work ethic, you do a bang-up job, but your being late so often is quite bothersome."

"Yes, I know boss, and I am working on it."

"Well, good, you are a team player. That's what I like to hear. It's odd though your coming in late. I know you're retired from the Armed Forces. What did they say if you came in late there?"

"They said, "Good morning, Admiral, can I get you coffee, sir?"
