GM's Notes

On Wednesday I received a call from Goodyear informing that he would not be at the run as he was away. It was school holidays and with 2 young children at home he must have been pressurised into a holiday!! We'll claim your free crate of beer next week though!!!!

As we were setting the run a lovely Malay lady, who spoke good English, was carrying on a conversation with a hiker about the dog who was sitting at her feet. She had in her hand plastic bottles which she must have picked up on her walk in the area. She should be careful though as that is how I got leptospirosis a couple of years ago.

We exited to the right and continued up the dirt track which was a well trodden track skirting the hill as it led us passed Taman Pekaka. We met more friendly dogs who decided to come along for the hike as well. Before long we were climbing upwards once more to the hill top. As the Hare was absent and not wanting to set a long run in the sweltering heat, we went down by the steps leading from the hill top, which in itself is something I dislike intensely as it's hard on the knees.

Bkt Jambul is a nice area to hike but parking is limited to the patch of grass at the edge of the road and early evening sees much traffic whizzing by. As 6.00pm approached more hashers turned up with Iceman arriving somewhat later. As the others had already gone he changed and didn't ask too many questions, probably assuming much more.

After about 40 mins the front runners came back sweaty and huffing and puffing with the others trickling over the next 30 mins or so. All that is except Iceman, who came back after an hour and a half or so! When asked what happened he had assumed we were following the FTAC paper (they were also running at Bkt J that evening) so he did their run. No wonder he couldn't find any Harriets paper!!

The food was simple and good. The orange juice was quickly drunk and refilled as the heat of the day still lingered. Beers were drunk and a short circle was conducted.

All in all, a good evening with quite a few die-hards staying on until late! So thanks Goodyear for the food and also to Sai Seng and Co-hare for setting a good run at short notice.

Please note that Mike lost his camera at the FTAC run last week and so he now has no camera to take photos at the hash. We do have a Club camera (Samsung) which was given back to last year's Committee but it has not yet turned up. Please search for it as someone must have it. I think having a pictorial record of our evenings is wonderful and I know all like the photos in the newsletter but more than that, in future years we can all look back with some nostalgia on our past runs. Please look for it. Thanks for your help.

Icings:

1. Guests: Koolwinder and Itchy Bai
2. Wan Lyn and Akz Hole iced for wearing new shoes.
3. Alastair congratulations on achieving 300 runs.
4. Charges from the floor saw:
 - a. General charged the GM for having a crap memory, as the last time we ran at BJ she couldn't remember his name.
 - b. General charged Take Care for calling him a 'young man' whilst on the run when in fact General is slightly older than TC.
 - c. Sai Seng charged Vithia for coming to the run site very late but actually was really thanking him for coming all that way to eat dinner!
5. Icing the Hare. Since Goodyear was not around a lookalike was found in his friend Koolwinder who graciously accepted the pack's appreciation for a good run and good tasty food. We also will look forward to sampling the free beer next week sponsored by Goodyear, so we thank you for that in advance.
